UK Organisers: B'nai B'rith UK

B'nai B'rith UK was established in 1910. It is part of an international organisation founded in 1843, which advocates for global Jewry and champions the cause of human rights. B'nai B'rith is active in 59 countries with representation at the UN, UNESCO and the EU.

B'nai B'rith UK is a cross-communal organisation whose aim is to bring Jewish people together to promote tolerance, strengthen the Jewish Community, combat racial and religious prejudice, to help the less fortunate and the disadvantaged.

Local groups provide innovative cultural, educational and social programmes. These include speaker events, concerts, theatre outings, quizzes, debates, visits to places of interest, walks and trips abroad. These provide a great social network and the opportunity to participate in and support our humanitarian and heritage projects.

BBUK's hugely successful programme of online talks, established at the beginning of lockdown in March 2020, carries on throughout 2023 and continues to attract a large number of attendees around the world. The European Days of Jewish Culture and Heritage, run by a team of volunteers, is a mainstay of our calendar.

B'NAI B'RITH UK

B'nai B'rith UK's Bureau of International Affairs engages with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, the Department for International Development, foreign embassies and NGOs on behalf of Jewish people internationally and to support Israel. More widely, we promote the human rights of minority groups.

We sponsor a Foodbank and Distribution Centre in the southern Israeli development town of Qiryat Gat, plus an after-school activity club for children. We also support a humanitarian medical programme for elderly Jews and righteous gentiles in Kyiv, Ukraine and a shoe programme for a children's orphanage in Odesa, now relocated to Romania because of the war in Ukraine.

European Days of Jewish Culture and Heritage (EDJCH) 2023: United Kingdom

For this year's heritage activities, B'nai B'rith UK's European Days of Jewish Culture and Heritage (EDJCH) team has once again created this online booklet, which will include both in-person and virtual events, talks, open days, exhibitions and guided walks.

Many sites are open to the public in person, while others are still running online events. We are thrilled to have such a large number of organisations, synagogues and walking guides taking part in our heritage activities this year, with some holding more than one event. There is a good mixture of in-person and virtual events, with many venues welcoming back visitors with open arms.

Initiated by the B'nai B'rith Lodge in Strasbourg, the EDJCH rapidly spread across Europe and celebrated its 20th anniversary in 2019. It is organised by a partnership between

B'nai B'rith Europe, the European Council of Jewish Communities and the Spanish Jewry Network and is part of the Council of Europe's project 'Europe - A Common Heritage'. As a result of the EDJCH, the European Route of Jewish Heritage has evolved and is now one of the major cultural routes of Europe.

For 2023, the European Days of Jewish Culture and Heritage will run from 3rd September to 31st December inclusive. The National Heritage Open Days will run from 8th to 17th September this year, which ties in nicely with our own dates.

Our theme for 2023 will be 'Memory', which lends itself to a huge range of potential events, whether real or virtual. All of these interpretations offer a wealth of opportunities for open days, talks, virtual guided walks and online exhibitions.

Exhibition Live only 'The Wiener Holocaust Library at 90'. To mark the 90th anniversary of the founding of the Library's predecessor organisation in Amsterdam, the Library is staging two exciting new exhibitions. 'The Wiener Library at 90: Highlights From the Archives'. This exhibition commemorates the anniversary of the founding of world's longest continually existing archive on the Nazi era and the Holocaust. It showcases the breadth and depth of the Library's collections, encompassing unique items recording pre-Nazi era life; the struggle against Nazism; efforts to document and record antisemitic and anti-Roma persecution and the Holocaust; Nazi documents giving evidence of their crimes; material relating to the lives of Jewish refugees, and efforts to document other genocides. The exhibition demonstrates the range and the importance, and sometimes fragility, of the Library's collections. 'The Wiener Family Story' This exhibition traces the history of the family of the Library's founder, Dr Alfred Wiener.

Born in Potsdam in 1885, Wiener was a noted anti-Nazi campaigner by the time of the Nazi accession to power in 1933. In the same year he relocated to Amsterdam for his own safety and founded the Library's predecessor organisation, the Jewish Central Information Office. This exhibition will examine Wiener's life of anti-Nazi work and also explore the fates of Wiener's wife and daughters who became trapped in German-occupied Holland, and were eventually arrested and held in camps, including Bergen-Belsen. Towards the end of the war, they were released in a rare prisoner exchange. Wiener's daughter Mirjam later went on to move to London and marry Ludwik Finkelstein, who had his own story of incarceration and escape during the war. Free. The Library is open Monday to Friday, 10am to 5pm. On Tuesdays the Exhibition and the Wolfson Reading Room are open late, until 7pm. The Library is closed on Bank Holidays. Talk Virtual and Live Book Talk: 'Yiddish Paris' with Nicholas Underwood. As part of our new academic books event series, The Wiener Holocaust Library is pleased to host Nick Underwood who will speak about his new book, Yiddish Paris: Staging Nation and Community in Interwar France.

Participants can register to attend in person or online. 'Yiddish Paris' explores how Yiddish-speaking emigrants from Eastern Europe in Paris in the 1920s and 1930s created a Yiddish diaspora nation in Western Europe and how they presented that nation to themselves and to others in France. In this meticulously researched and first full-length study of interwar Yiddish culture in France, author Nick Underwood argues that the emergence of a 'Yiddish Paris' depended on culture makers, mostly left-wing Jews from Socialist and Communist backgrounds who created cultural and scholarly organizations and institutions, including the French branch of YIVO (a research institution focused on East European Jews), theatre troupes, choruses, and a pavilion at the Paris World's Fair of 1937. 'Yiddish Paris' examines how these left-wing Yiddish-speaking Jews insisted that even in France, a country known for demanding the assimilation of immigrant and minority groups, they could remain a distinct group, part of a transnational Yiddish-speaking Jewish nation. Yet, in the process, they in fact created a French-inflected version of Jewish diaspora nationalism, finding allies among French intellectuals, largely on the left. Nick Underwood is an assistant professor in the Department of History and Berger-Neilsen Chair of Judaic Studies at The College of Idaho. His work has appeared in a number of journals, and his book 'Yiddish Paris: Staging Nation and Community in Interwar France' was a finalist for the 2022 National Jewish Book Award. He is also the project manager for the Digital Yiddish Theatre Project. B'nai B'rith UK - Prof. David Newman

Talk Virtual only 'The Lost Heritage and Majesty of British Synagogues'.

Prof. David Newman

During the past fifty years many of the largest synagogues dating back to the late nineteenth and early twentieth century, have closed down as their communities have moved on from the inner cities to the suburbs. Often known as the cathedral synagogues, these magnificent buildings hosted some of the great cantors of the twentieth century, who moved through Europe as they were snapped up by eager communities and their congregants. Unfortunately most of these synagogues were either knocked down to be replaced by other buildings, such as apartment blocks, offices or even factories, while many retained their basic structure (often due to heritage laws) but were transformed into mosques, churches, schools and other functions. Very few remained in Jewish hands. This presentation will take us on a visual tour of some of the many synagogues of the United Kingdom, especially of London, which have undergone this process and will discuss their fate against the background of their majestic histories, when they were filled to the rafters to hear the great cantors of their period. Professor David Newman OBE is Professor of Geopolitics at Ben Gurion University. He set up the Synagogues of the UK Facebook site discussing the history of communities and their rabbinic and cantorial personalities. Free. 8pm-9pm. Prebooking Required. Jewish refugee child from Nazi-occupied Austria. Lis uses textiles combined with other materials to make visual stories and experiences that are partial, too painful or complex for words. Through her art she confronts past and present, piecing together fragmented memories and feelings. To stitch is to bind patches of fabric together, to mend, to renew. 'Threads through time' is Lis' individual story of self-making, but her works echo other refugee stories, past and present, and suggest wider questions about exile and belonging today. From September, visitors to Upton House will also see displays about Upton's former owner, 2nd Viscount Bearsted, Walter Samuel, who along with other prominent Anglo-Jews played a leading role in efforts to rescue Jewish refugees from Nazi persecution. Grade II Listing. 2nd Viscount Bearsted, Walter Samuel, bought and remodelled the original 17th-century Warwickshire house in 1927. He purposefully redesigned and extended the honey coloured stone house to best display his fine painting collection and rare 18th-century French and English porcelain. Lady Bearsted concentrated her attention on the gardens and commissioned one of the first professional female garden designers, Kitty Lloyd Jones, to improve them for the family's pleasure and leisure time. The topography is distinctive with steep terraces parallel to the house tumbling down the Ice Age valley. Special anniversary: February 2023 marked 75 years since Lord Bearsted gave Upton House and gardens and his outstanding collection of paintings and porcelain to the National Trust. In July it will also be 75 years since Upton House first opened to the visiting public under the ownership of the National Trust. 2pm Talk Live only 'Dissenters boxes: the Nonconformist chapels of early 19th century Cheltenham'. As well as the Synagogue, the 19th century was the building of many Nonconformist chapels in Cheltenham, most of which still survive, albeit in secular use. This talk, by Dr Steven Blake, will look at the buildings and their history and will encourage those attending to go out and explore for themselves. Dr Blake worked for 30 years at Cheltenham Art Gallery & Museum (1975-2006), eventually filling the post of Museum & Collections Manager and is a founder member, and former Chairman, of the Cheltenham Local History Society. Strawberry Hill House NEW Talk Virtual and Live 'The Stern-Michelhams at Strawberry Hill House: An Itinerant Collection'. Although Strawberry Hill House is perhaps best known for its illustrious first owner Horace Walpole, it was also home to two equally fascinating people at the turn of the twentieth century: Herbert Stern, 1st Baron Michelham of Hellingly (1851-1919) and Lady Michelham, Aimee Geraldine Bradshaw (1881-1927).

Born into an important German Jewish banking family, Herbert Stern was part of the prestigious circle of financial advisers to the Prince of Wales, the future Edward VII, as well as a member of the House of Lords. As part of English high society, Lord and Lady Michelham were, like their contemporaries, enthusiastic exponents of the worldliness that governed the time. They hosted numerous garden parties at Strawberry Hill House between 1905 and 1910 and travelled between their London homes and France to enjoy their Paris apartment and cruises on the French Riviera. This elite high society lifestyle was traditionally associated with a strong interest in works of art and collections. The Michelhams were themselves important collectors of 18th century French art objects, thanks to the intervention of one of the most prolific art dealers of the period: Duveen Brothers. Not only objects from their inventory but also their style of interior decoration were to be observed in the Michelhams' apartments at 20 Arlington Street in London and 23 Rue Nitot in Paris. However, while archives and photographs provide information about the important arrangements of these collections in their apartments, little was hitherto known about their collections present at Strawberry Hill. This is certainly due to an impression left by Duveen brothers who wrote that the Michelhams did 'not want to buy anything for Strawberry Hill'. This could have been corroborated by the fact that Lord Michelham's father had bought Strawberry Hill together with the collections assembled by Lady Waldegrave, who inherited the Villa after the death of her second husband, the 7th Earl Waldegrave. However, recent research has shown that the country house was occasionally in the 1920s temporarily furnished to the taste of the Michelhams, using the collections of their London apartment. It is therefore the history of the Michelham collection at Strawberry Hill, its arrangement, its display and hypothetical itinerancy, that will be discussed during my lecture as part of the European Days for Jewish Culture. Constance Booker undertook an internship as a Research Assistant to Dr Silvia Davoli at Strawberry Hill House at the beginning of 2022, focused on the Stern-Michelham family. She subsequently completed a Post-Master's Degree in Research in Art History at the Ecole du Louvre, while working at the Mobilier National in Paris. The tour of the House will be a general historical tour but will focus in on the Stern/Michelham occupancy. Although little now remains from this period, your guide will demonstrate the House in its Edwardian splendour with the aid of contemporary photographs. One extraordinary artefact that remains is the Tented Ceiling in the room which Horace Walpole called his Blue Breakfast Room. The tour will include the famous drawing room in the Waldegrave Wing where the Michelhams displayed part of their prized collection of art treasures. This room is rarely available for tours as it is now owned by St Mary's University. The Liberal Jewish Synagogue

Talk Virtual and Live 'Lily Montagu and her club' - illustrated talk by Rabbi Dr Jackie Tabick to celebrate Miss Lily Montagu 1873-1963. She was a very typical Victorian Lady, interested in bettering the life of the poor through education, work and good deeds. To help the young women working in the sweatshops, (whom she believed to be in moral danger from the young, sweaty, bare chested young men!) she founded a club which then morphed into West Central Liberal Synagogue and she was a prime mover behind the creation of Liberal Judaism and the World Union of Progressive Judaism. The Liberal Jewish Synagogue in St John's Wood with its grand ionic columns of Portland Stone seated 1,350 people when it was dedicated on 13 September 1925, just in time for that year's High Holy Days. However, the building was seriously damaged by an enemy bomb in 1940 and, although it was repaired, the ongoing serious structural defects prompted the community to undertake a major redesign and re-build in the late 1980s. The present building was opened in 1991. Free. 1.00pm. 28 St

She tells the story of the Jews from past to present, displaying history in its various periods...a rollercoaster in time. She observes the workplace, and the home, recognising how memories, customs, faiths, and family patterns help to shape the individual person and the communities they share. British participation in the European Days of Jewish Culture and Heritage is organised by B'nai B'rith UK, part of B'nai B'rith International, which was founded in New York in 1843 and in 2018 celebrated its 175th anniversary.

Today, it is one of the largest Jewish volunteer organisations active in humanitarian, human rights and cultural and charitable work in 59 countries, many of which are affiliated to B'nai B'rith Europe.

Launched in 1996 by the B'nai B'rith Lodge in Strasbourg, the Open Days became pan-European in 2000 and are now under the aegis of the European Association for the Preservation and Promotion of Jewish Culture and Heritage (AEPJ), with the participation of 31 countries.

In 2023, B'nai B'rith UK would like to acknowledge the contribution of the Survey of the Jewish Built Heritage (SJBH) and members of B'nai B'rith UK, for their generous support, as well as our participants who are making these Open Days, talks, guided walks and events, whether real or virtual, possible by opening their buildings to the public and/or arranging events.
